

Philadelphia November 3<sup>d</sup> 1851

Sir,

The females of Phil<sup>a</sup> deeply sensible of your exertions in the cause of the oppressed, and of the importance of supporting the Liberator, the able and untiring advocate of the rights and privileges of their whole race, believing that something more is necessary than mere words to express their gratitude, wish to contribute generally to its support, and therefore beg of you Sir, to accept the inclosed sum, as a small tribute towards the great cause you have espoused, and although it is not in their power, as females to do much, yet they are willing to aid, according to their ability, in giving a more extensive circulation to the Liberator. Continue then Sir, to go on with the good work, you have so nobly begun, and be assured that every female amongst us, feels the cause you are engaged in, as her own, and you will ever have, their prayers, and most ardent wishes for your continued success.

It is not wished that this trifling gift should be publicly noticed, but you can mention, to the Agent here, Mr Casper, that it has been received.
